Fit in the morning Fresh all day

"The results of diminished nerve-force comprise headache, loss of sleep, indigestion, easily induced fatigue, disinclination for bodily or mental exertion, loss of memory and a lack of vigour in all physical functions. To overcome these conditions science has produced Sanatogen. The gain through its aid is permanent; it builds up, fortifies and strengthens because it is a real cell food."

These are the words of Dr. CLAUDE L. WHEELER, the well-known scientist. They prove what Sanatogen will do for you. And remember that Dr. WHEELER is only one of 24,000 physicians who tried Sanatogen and wrote to the makers about the splendid results obtained.

A tonic, the value of which has been proved so often and so clearly, is surely worth while trying.

Start taking Sanatogen to-day and see how it will revitalize you, how it will overcome that debility and listlessness, how it will give you sound sleep at night and healthy energy in the day.

Make your Teeth Strong with Kalzana

Very few people get enough calcium from their ordinary food. Yet medical science insists that it is the most important of all the minerals needed by the body. Kalzana is calcium in a palatable, easily digested form. Take a few tablets daily and provide your system with the material it needs to form strong, sound teeth, capable of lasting a life-time.

A Doctor of Dental Surgery writes: "Kalzana makes the teeth strong and hard and so stops tooth-decay. I have often seen extraordinary results even after a few weeks' use."

Look at your children's teeth. If the first set shows decay take heed of nature's warning. Let Kalzana help to produce a perfect second set. The most persistent use of the tooth-brush cannot indefinitely protect weak, poor quality teeth against decay.

Expectant and nursing mothers need Kalzana. It makes good the excessive loss of calcium, protects the teeth against decay and secures strong, safe teeth to their children.

BOMBAY COTTON MARKET

BOMBAY MARKET.
COTTON.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Bombay, July 2.

After the recent decline Reuter reported to-day 9 to 14 points up in New York futures. The market advanced on short covering. Liverpool has been reported 3 to 4 points higher.

Messrs. Thomas Smith and Co.'s report:—Based on the average of various private estimates the Government estimate has been forecast as follows:—

Condition 76.5 per cent. Crop 15,450,000 bales.

Messrs. Uniragar and Veusagars' New York friends Messrs. A. Norden and Co. cable under date 1st instant as under:—

"Do not think market is likely to go much better while weather continues good."

Although a moderate advance reported in New York futures the Marwari Bazar opened this morning half a rupee lower with Broach July/August at Rs. 333 and fluctuating within a rupee closed at Rs. 332½. Commission Houses were moderate sellers whilst Bazar operators were buyers. New Broach April/May opened at Rs. 314 3/4 and improving to Rs. 315½ on buying by Shroffs declined to Rs. 313½ on general selling and closed at the same rate. At Cotton Green the market opened at Rs. 312½ and going down to Rs. 312½ on selling by Bazar operators closed at Rs. 313.

Oomra July opened at Rs. 320 and declined to Rs. 318½ on selling by Shroffs and closed at the same rate. Whilst Oomra January opened at Rs. 299 and advancing to Rs. 300 on buying by Shroffs closed easier at Rs. 298½ on general selling. Bengal July and December/January were respectively quoted Rs. 252 and Rs. 246.

Our market for ready cotton remained dull yesterday and the demand was very poor.

To-day 300 bales Broach and 200 bales Central Provinces No. 2 in all 50 bales were tendered. Total tenders up-to-date are 400 bales Bengal, 400 bales Broach, 100 bales Berar and 600 bales Central Provinces No. 2 in all 1,200 bales.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

COTTON.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

Bombay, July 2.

During the week under review Home markets have been fluctuating, but on the whole show a moderate decline both in Liverpool and New York as compared with a week ago. Early the market eased on favourable weather report. On some profit-taking the market improved a little, but again gave way on considerable selling and long liquidation on favourable crop prospects. At the close the market was steady.

For the bulk of the week the market has been subjected to further liquidation and a certain amount of short selling with a nervous and unsettled tone and very much dependent upon the weather news from the cotton-growing regions. The result is that at the moment fluctuations are entirely due to weather reports and it is therefore a pure gamble as to what part the weather will play in the near future. Under such conditions, it can hardly be understood that operators are not inclined to go very far in their transactions, and every interest is keeping fairly close to the shore.

We are now definitely entering the danger zone for the crop and there is no doubt we shall experience rapid and severe fluctuations. Although the weekly Government weather report is favourable, excessive rains in the West and fear of insects are factors which create anxiety, and the temperamental existing at present is to anticipate to the full a scare, perhaps of a severe nature during the next few weeks. The condition of the crop in so many parts of the Belt is so good that more than usual deterioration later on is emphasized.

Pointers for the first official Agricultural Bureau Report due here on Saturday from various private authorities have been daily in circulation and average roundabout 75 per cent, mostly indicating a crop between 15 and 17½ million bales. These are somewhat higher ideas than were prevailing a week or ten days back, and it will be very interesting to see whether the official document will support these ideas.

Reports from Manchester are far from encouraging and the continuance of the cool strike has caused the mills to seriously curtail their operations in view of the shortage of coal, with the result that trade generally in Lancashire is running on very short time.

Broadly speaking, should the Bureau Report bring about a good set-back, our advice would be to take advantage of the same to effect conservative purchases, as other factors will be brought forward in turn to create apprehension before the crop begins to move, and as pointed out in our last circular, numerous opportunities will present themselves of liquidating such transactions at a satisfactory profit.

LOCAL MARKET.

Bombay, July 2.

With improved weather conditions here as well, the market has displayed an easier tendency and prices register a decline of about Rs. 10 from those ruling last week. The outlook is distinctly favourable and we expect that when the rain becomes more general, the present anxiety regarding crop prospects will naturally disappear and prices will slowly tend to give way.

The present declining state of the market has checked the demand for actual cotton and buyers show little or no interest with the result that business is restricted to a small scale. On the other hand, scarcity of high class tenderable cotton is now beginning to make itself felt.

The following were the changes in the Home markets as compared with last week:—

	Last week.	This week.
New York October	16.73	16.42 -31

LOCAL FORWARD MARKET.

Bombay, July 2.

Fully good Brooch July-August opened on the 25th ultimo at Rs. 340, and going up to Rs. 341 declined to Rs. 338 on Shroffs selling. On Commission and Japanese Houses buying the market recovered to Rs. 340. From this level the market gradually gave way to Rs. 330, on prominent Shroffs selling and on long liquidation, and closed at Rs. 333 on the 1st instant. Whilst new Brooch April-May opened at Rs. 324 on the 25th ultimo and gradually eased to Rs. 315 on Commission Houses and Shroffs selling. On general buying the values recovered to Rs. 320. But the market again declined to Rs. 312 on prominent Shroffs selling and closed on the 1st instant at Rs. 313.

Fine Oomra July opened at Rs. 325½ and advancing to Rs. 326½ eased to Rs. 323 on Shroffs selling. From this level the market improved to Rs. 326 on general buying. On selling by a Japanese firm and Shroffs the market declined to Rs. 317 and closed on the 1st instant at Rs. 319. Whilst December-January opened at Rs. 306 and going up to Rs. 308 eased to Rs. 304 on Japanese and Commission Houses selling. Again improving by a rupee the market dropped to Rs.

290½ on one Japanese firm and general selling and closed on the 1st instant at Rs. 290. F. G. Bengal July opened at Rs. 255½ and closed at Rs. 250½, the highest being Rs. 256½ and the lowest Rs. 248. Whilst December-January opened at Rs. 253 and closed at Rs. 251½, the highest being Rs. 253½ and the lowest Rs. 244.

PIECE-GOODS.

Bombay, July 2.

An easier feeling has prevailed in the Cloth Market during the past week, due to the absence of demand. But a welcome change in the weather conditions has set in, and the outlook may be said to have improved. In Ahmedabad, however, owing to deficient rainfall during the last two years and the absence of any rain so far this season, great distress prevails in villages, and the Maskati Cloth Market Association alone has given Rs. 10,000 for the purpose of feeding the herds of cattle. The cattle in Kathiawar are also suffering acute distress. Merchants here being anxious sellers and, in order to induce purchases, have cut down the rates of various standard cloths. But buyers have not been tempted by the reductions offered and are marking time at present. The weakness in cotton, the uncertainty regarding the course of exchange, the decreased buying capacity of purchasers, and the disturbances in up-country centres are factors which have checked free trading.

Grey Shirtings have not shown any change. Grey Drills have been easier. Grey Jacquards No. 18 owing to light stocks in the hands of one merchant, only have increased in value by further one anna per piece. Liepmann's White Shirtings have been easier. Sacharilla Heading White Mulls in wide widths have declined in value by four annas per piece. 58 inches by 20 yards White Mulls have gone down by two annas per piece. Narrow width Nainsooks worth from Rs. 2-10 to Rs. 2-14 per piece have been scarce.

The Manchester Market has been steady. Owing to the strike clause in contracts, forward business has been restricted, but some well-known firms are said to have purchased goods on their own account.

Local mill cloths have not shown much activity. The stock of a lakh of bales has been a source of anxiety to the Mill Agents. One of the local mills, having a stock of 2,000 bales of Khadi cloth, is willing to part with the same at Re. 0-10-6 per lb, but buyers are offering half an anna less.

It is gratifying to note that the Hon. Mr. Munnimohandas Ramji has withdrawn his resignation of the Chairmanship of the Bombay Native Piece-goods Merchants' Association. It is hoped that the merchant will take proper interest in the work carried on for their welfare by the Association, and instead of sending their clerks to the meeting, will personally attend the same and give unanimous support to any proposals brought before the meeting to guard their interests.

YARN MARKET.

July 1.

Since our last prices have remained steady all round and although demand has not shown any further improvement in finer counts the bulk of enquiries in coarse spinings has further increased and some business has been done in these counts at about the same level of prices. At the end of the week however the feeling has been slightly easy on account of decline in American cotton prices although the local cotton position has not developed any weakness of similar nature on account of absence of good cotton from stock. Besides there has been a sale of about three to four thousand bales of 10s. and 12s. spinings of well-known Chops for China market at prices slightly better than before and this has also given some steadiness to the markets. The reports from up-country markets are yet not very encouraging but as monsoon has begun mildly if it develops satisfactorily in all likelihood there will be enquiries from up-country as a result of confidence created amongst the buyers. Turnover on the whole is very limited at the moment and buyers have been effecting purchases in small lots and very cautiously.

ENGLISH YARNS.

Prices in Manchester do not show much change and the forward sales reported are negligible. Various yarns from stock have been selling in small quantities but as this results into losses to the dealers they are not inclined to place forward business at the moment.

JAPANESE YARNS.

Turnover is restricted and prices have remained fairly steady during the week under review. Forward prices from Japan have continued to remain very firm and the Import Houses have been quoting rates much higher than the rates prevailing in the local market. Heavy stocks however and comparatively less off take are the principal factors which do not bring about any notable improvement in our market. Prices in two folds yarns have been showing some further improvement whereas in case of mercerized yarns a further decline has been in evidence. Fresh forward business is entirely neglected at the moment on account of replacing costs being much higher. Sampin and exchange have remained firm.

INDIAN YARNS.

Several Mills have curtailed their production and as a result prices have stopped declining any further. Some of them are yet very eager to dispose of their yarns from stock but as the prices offered are very poor they have been waiting for any further improvement so as to enable them to sell their stocks at somewhat better prices. Besides some sales for China at intervals have also been helping to a certain extent and as the monsoon has made its start they have been inclined to wait for some time longer. Stocks of coarse spinings from No. 2s. to 10 1/2s. are not very large as there have been steady sales of these counts although in small lots and this factor gives our Mills some relief at the moment. The Tariff Board has begun its labours from the 1st of July and the Textiles Trade have been watching the developments with particular interest. It cannot be said at this stage what will be the practical outcome of their labours and whether it will be satisfactory to the trade concerned but to expect some relief to the Mill industry in general will not be out of place.

The general market condition is steady and if monsoon continues to show favourable development we expect better off take in course of time.

SHARE BAZAR.

Bombay, July 2.

The market opened at last closing rates and immediately declined owing to the heavy sales made by certain Ahmedabad parties and the rates declined about Rs. 20/- per share. There was recovery of Rs. 7-8/-. The undertone is steady to weak. 3 1/2 per cent. Paper opened at Rs. 76 1/2, declining to Rs. 76 3/4 and again advanced to Rs. 76 5/6, closing at Rs. 76 4/6. The tone is steady to firm. Certain Banks are constantly buying at every decline specially 1945/55. In cash settle Tata Power were done at Rs. 507 1/8 buyers over. There are strong buyers of Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Co. at Rs. 1,000/- without finding any sellers and we won't be surprised if the price touches to Rs. 1,200/- within a short time.

TRACED AT LAST

BABU CHASMAWALA.

ON WAY TO BOMBAY.

We understand that Babu Chasmawala, the notorious leader of the dacoits who made good his escape from the Esplanade Police Court, look-up under dramatic circumstances about three months ago has been arrested at Jalgaon. He is being brought to Bombay.

Babu Chasmawala, it appeared, was passing as Sakaram Ramchandra at Jalgaon but his behaviour having aroused suspicion of the police, he was arrested and his finger print was sent to Bombay C. I. D. for verification.

To the surprise of the Bombay C. I. D. they found that the finger print tallied with that of the much wanted man Babu Chasmawala and they immediately wired to the Jalgaon police to bring the suspect under a strong armed escort.

KACHA KHANDI MAHAJAN CASE.

FURTHER HEARING ADJOURNED

Hearing was resumed on Friday afternoon in the case popularly known as Kacha Khandi Mahajan Case in which Thawarnal Rupchand and Motilal Ruplal, two of the 347 accused persons who were arrested in the Satta Gully in January last, were placed before the Chief Presidency Magistrate at the Esplanade Police Court on a charge of keeping a common gaming house.

Mr. Frank Oliveira, Advocate, instructed by Messrs. Kirke Smith and Thanavalla, appeared for the prosecution, while Mr. Talarachan, Barrister, instructed by Mr. Chhatrapati conducted the defence.

Rao Bahadur Savant who was further cross-examined by the defence counsel, said that he officiated as the Superintendent of B Division from 23.10.25 to 7.3.26. The premises of Shri Mahajan Association were raided on 21.1.26. Witness first came to know of the existence of the Association in Motilal's Chawl within a few days after he took over charge but he did not know the nature of the business carried on there until after a fortnight. He first visited the place in November, 1925, and then frequently visited it, before it was raided. It was difficult to find out the actual nature of the business done there. Before he raided the place, witness had taken steps against certain members of the Association for dealing in 'Ank Farak'. He did not take any steps in Kacha Khandi affair because the C.I.D. were making inquiries in the matter. Witness raided the place on the strength of a special warrant from the Dy. Commissioner of Police. He could not say no particular room was specified in the warrant.

All the rooms on the ground floor of Motilal's Chawl were raided by the witness who said that all of them were gambling houses. Witness did not know who informed the police about the gambling. He did not know if the East India Cotton Association had anything to do with the prosecution nor had witness anything to do with the Association or any of its members.

Witness said that he raided room No. 11 in the Dwarkadas Chawl, and seized some books from it. Some of the books were returned.

Mr. Narayan P. Wagle, the Inspector in charge of the Princess Street Police Station, was then examined. He recalled the circumstances under which the Mahajan Association premises were raided and several members arrested.

ALLEGED CASE OF FORGERY.

A sensational case of forgery has been reported at the Phanton road police station resulting in the arrest of one Chai Bihari Lal Shum Bihari. It appeared the accused stole a cheque book belonging to Harishchandra Kapoor residing at Colaba and filed up a form for Rs. 50,000. He then cashed the cheque at the Punjab National Bank. He received the money but could not enjoy it long for the attention of the complainant having been drawn to the defalcation in the bank accounts immediately reported to the police who in the course of their enquiries recovered Rs. 10,000. The accused will be placed before a magistrate shortly.

TRAGIC DEATH OF A WRESTLER

Awadnayan Shilomochan (21) a Hindu residing at DeLisle Road went for wrestling on Tuesday evening to his gymnasium. On his return home he complained of pain in the chest and some liniment was applied by his relatives. Subsequently he grew worse and died on Friday morning.

IN AID OF RAMAKRISHNA MISSION ASHRAM

To-morrow at 6 p.m. the members of the "Saraswati Sangeetha Sabha" will stage "Subhadra Arjuna" as already announced in these columns at the Damodar Thackersey Hall, Parel. It will be remembered that the whole proceeds of the play will go to the Shri Ramakrishna Mission Ashram Fund. "Subhadra Arjuna" is a beautiful selection from the Hindu epics and is here converted into an interesting five-act play in Tamil. The main theme of the play is the union of Arjuna with Subhadra, the sister of Lord Krishna and King Balarama. Important personages of the play are King Balarama Sri Krishna, Subhadra, the heroine, Arjuna, the hero, and Dhuryodhana. The good work of the Shri Ramakrishna Mission is well-known and the public, it is hoped, will turn this occasion to the best possible advantage and make this "charity performance" a thorough success.

HARWOOD LEAGUE.

TIMES AND SWISS DRAW.

The match between the Swiss Football Club and the Times of India on the Cooperage yesterday provided an uninteresting match in which each side scored a goal. On the run of the play the Swiss should have won as they had the better line of forwards, but they were foiled by Edward, the Times back, who can always be relied on to do the right thing. Time and again the Swiss broke through but Edwards would always be in the right place to intercept. The Swiss did send one or two nasty shots which were well dealt with by Blake who is coming on very well as a goalie. Frapoli, the left back, was the best man amongst the Swiss. He played steadily throughout and invariably got the ball away to one of his forwards. Scherddager saved some wonderfully good ones and was ever on the alert to dash out and kick the ball away from an opponent's toe.

About ten minutes after the start Robinson scored the Times goal, and soon after Altweg equalised. After this there was no more scoring.

The game was of an up-and-down nature with the defenders holding their own.

Swiss F. C. 1 goal.

Times of India 1 goal.

Swiss F. C.:—Scheidtger, Neiderer and Frapoli; Schmidt, Davies and Steimer; Zellkoper, Altweg, Reimers, Grossenbacher, and Hagenback.

Times of India:—Blake; Vouters and Edwards; Vast, Thompson and Lynn; Wallace, Blackely, Robinson, Cridge and Chisholm.

Referee:—Wozencroft.

OUR MENTORS.

Those, who profess the Moderate faith
in Indian politics, must be considerably
relieved to find that abundant advice is being given to Indians now from England
as to what they should do to secure Self-Government. Our Liberals are always anxious to secure "Friends of India" in their spiritual home, England, and their
labours in this direction have produced
results which ought to encourage them
particularly because the advice given is in conformity with their outlook on Indian political development. It is an important article in the Moderate creed that Indians
are incapable of standing on their own
legs and must gratefully accept the tutelage
of Great Britain. The idea that such tutelage may mean a permanent enslavement of their country is alien to Liberal philosophy in India and "The Friends of India" are not slow to take advantage of this want of confidence of the Indian Moderate in his own people. In every English monthly periodical and in every English weekly journal advice is being given to "sensible and level-headed"
Indians to make the best of what has been given to them in the shape of "Reforms"
so that they can rise higher and higher in what Nationalist India can only look upon as servitude to Britain.

Not only are English publicists alone
prolific in their advice; recently they have had Indian allies. Our brown bureaucrats
are developing a habit, after retirement
to sojourn in England occasionally and write
to the "Times" about what they think of India. Our titled plutocrats on a holiday
or a business trip to England follow suit.
Generally what they think about India
expresses itself in an unreasoning and malicious condemnation of the Indian Nationalist movement. It will evoke considerable interest in this city to note that Mr. R. P. Masani, the well-known Corporation official, who recently retired from the Secretaryship of that body, has joined
the ranks of those of his countrymen who,
through the London "Times," castigate
the "Extremists" in India. In a recent letter to that journal Mr. Masani, essays
a panegyric on the Viceroyalty of Lord
Hardinge, and although much that he says
is in the vein of the Indian Moderate of advanced views, he cannot escape being affected by the Imperialist idea and he denies the "small extremist section" in India, which remained unreconciled when
a conciliatory policy followed the repressive
regime of Lord Minto. Mr. Masani
discovers that "despite the convulsions of
that section, the faith of the people in the justice of British rule and in the fidelity
of Government to their promises was restored and during the war fresh bonds
of union and fellowship were formed".
He attributes this happy state of things,
in the existence of which the vast majority
of his countrymen have no faith, to the policy of Lord Hardinge. As regards
Lord Reading his language is less enthusiastic but the readers of the London "Times"
must doubtless have been relieved to learn from Mr. Masani that in regard to India
there exists "to-day a marked improvement in the political atmosphere of the country". Mr. Masani in his new role of the Indian Imperialist assures his Imperialist cousins in Britain about the safety of "the union of Great Britain
and India, to the mutual advantage of
each", so long as "the Keystone of British rule" remains the same and so long as the Empire can produce high-minded statesmen
like Lord Reading.

A free India will only be too glad to remain a self-respecting constituent of the British Commonwealth but we would earnestly advise Mr. Masani and the Indian Imperialists who accept his mode of thought, carefully to examine what the nature of that "keystone" of British rule
in India is before they indulge in
denunciations of the nationalist movement.
Its nature is clearly indicated in the advice which a Secretary of State for India like Lord Birkenhead, or an ex-
Sadr like Lord Meston bestows upon
English entrants to the Imperial Services.
Britain maintains in this country at a crushing heavy cost to the Indian taxpayer. The root of that advice lies in the
of the repeated dictum about "saving"
India for the Empire. The "Reforms"
are there, but fraudulent in essence as is Dyarchy imposed on India, that system
even is held up before the British public
by a considerable and powerful section of the British Press as inviting "disaster" to British Power in India. In order to avoid this "disaster", a London weekly
had recently an article from an Englishman
who during his stay in India "was impressed by the way in which a true Indiani-
sation was proceeding in many directions",
and was prepared to give the British public advice how to meet it. His suggestion is that the whole mischief in India is due to the Act of 1919, which, he remarks
"tried to make Lansbury and Kenworthy

out of Indians". His grievance is that "it held out a vista of Indian municipal mayors and chairmen of an L. C. C.", and he maintains that "self-government is no
more bound up with an electoral roll and geographical constituencies than Christ's
gospel is bound up with those mysterious
tables that precede our Book of Common Prayer". It is such glimpses into the mentality of the upholders of the British power in India which enable nationalist India to understand what the keystone of that power is. Mr. Masani will be well advised to explore further the history of
the development of nationalist thought in his own country before he hastens to write
to the English papers about the value of maintaining the keystone of British rule.
If he does so he will, we are sure, easily
realise how true is the nationalist contention that the keystone must be replaced
by something else if the union of Britain
and India "to the mutual advantage of each" is to be maintained. At present
the balance of advantage is tilted far too
much on one side.

ENGLAND'S CHOICE IN EGYPT.

Zaghlul's triumph at the Egyptian
general election seems to have thrown the whole British Press into a ferment and the Tory section into a veritable frenzy.
According to this section, Zaghlul and the Egyptians are an incorrigible lot—they are in a way. Lord Lloyd must take care,
the elegant "Saturday Review" says, "to restore sobriety to a nation intoxicated by
the verbosity of a crowd of noisy school-
boys". "To entrust Zaghlul with the premiership at such a moment would be nothing less than surrender to the dagger
and the bomb", says the "Outlook". The "Daily Mail" would straightway tell Zaghlul that "we are not going to leave Egypt in any circumstances". Even the Radical "New Statesman" thinks that "to concede all that Zaghlul Pasha has claimed
would pretty certainly bring down the skies" and that Egypt must for the present accept British tutelage. And this,
four years after the British declaration
that Egypt was a free and independent State!

These outbursts are not without a reason. It was not for mere pastime that a British warship left Malta for Egypt at the hour of Zaghlul's victory or that the British garrison in Cairo paraded demon-
stratively through the streets, or that British aeroplanes circled over the city.
The British realise that they are now up against a thoroughly united nation with a man of grit at their head. True, Zaghlul
is not himself the Premier, but he is still the master of the situation. In spite of all naval, military and aerial efforts to overawe the King and the Premier, the King's speech contained the significant
sentence: "The Government
considers that the measures taken in the Sudan cannot impair Egypt's legitimate claims, which remain what they were and will all that is possible to reach in this connection a solution giving Egypt satisfaction". This reference to the Sudan is an "intrusion" into one of the "reserved
questions" which the British regard as settled facts for the present and which Zaghlul is out to unsettle. These questions are mainly about the Suez Canal,
foreign minorities, the Sudan and the British garrison in the control of which
the British would tolerate no Egyptian
"interference". The "New Statesman"
sees the mockery of Egyptian independence
with these questions outside Egyptian control
but says that for the present they should be regarded as settled facts. It says: "At some future date—not necessarily in the remote future—when Egypt has settled down, and other States also have settled down, and the power of the League of Nations is more effective, Egyptian independence may become absolute". Zaghlul
would not postpone that absolute independence to the Greek Calends but would have it now, legitimate British
interests being, of course, guaranteed.
Hence the tug of war. The "New Leader",
one of the very few British papers that
look at the question with the eye of justice, says that the best solution is
to withdraw immediately the exasperating
British garrison in Cairo and to submit
at once to impartial arbitration
or mediation the vexed "reserved
questions". It was in these terms, too, that the Labour policy was outlined at the Liverpool Conference. It remains to be seen if England will deal
with the question as she dealt with Ireland
or as she did with America.

Reckless.
"I really do not know," said Mr. Bridg-
man, the official spokesman in the Baldwin Government for the Eight Hours Bill they have rushed through, "what all the fuss is about." The remark must have considerably exasperated the Labourites in the House of Commons because although according to the Conservative view this latest hopeless device
of the Baldwin Government to find a way
out of the impasse will "give free choice to
free men," the miners cannot but regard
it as a reckless interference on the part of the State on behalf of Capitalism to increase
the hours of work, and thus cheapen production which ultimately is bound to reduce wages. Mr. Baldwin talked about the possibility of a mutually satisfactory settlement
if only the Federation accepted the Coal Commission's Report. This is misleading
the public as regards the Federation's attitude. What the miners want is legislation
for reorganisation of the industry as recommended in that Report and they are standing out still because the Government action
begins at the wrong end—increased hours
first followed by a promise only of reorganisation.

Sincerity in Unity.
A wise and chivalrous initiative was taken
the other day by the local Anjuman-e-Mu-

vaddat and its President, Mr. M. J. Shush-
tary. On the 18th and 25th of May last,
the "Habul Matin," a Calcutta paper,
published in Persian, made certain reflections on the Parsi character which the local Parsi press very wisely noticed only to take
no further notice of it. Perhaps the Parsis
have come to know the origin of the mischief or have decided not to advertise it
and lend spacious importance to quarters
least deserving it. Further, they held their hands as a community lest communal relations be estrained. The Anjuman-
e-Muvaddat and its President, Mr. M. J.
Shushstary, however, very chivalrously came forward to repudiate the accusations in the Calcutta weekly on behalf of the Parsis for whom he and his Anjuman have not for the first time evinced concrete regard. Along with the Vice-Consul for Persia at Karachi, Mr. Shushstary summoned a meeting of persons interested in the welfare of Persia.
Some of the leaders of the Parsis were prepared to co-operate with the Anjuman, but
the latter very generously decided to take the burden on its own shoulders. At a meeting which was held on the 19th June,
two brief and dignified resolutions were
passed repudiating the unfortunate animadversions on the Parsis and also on the Mussalman community (since the latter also
was involved in the unhappily phrased
articles) and authorising the President to
forward copies of the offensive contributions
and the resolutions to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Teheran, the Consuls in India
and to the newspapers of India and Persia.

A Welcome Example.
The affair so far as it bears on communal
relations need not be viewed in an exaggerated light. But there is a most welcome
incident in this connection on which attention has naturally been focussed. There has been a continuous and now monotonous
stream of talk about the natural fraternisa-
tion between the Persians and the Parsis.
The talk, however, has scarcely been translated into action. Mr. Shushstary and his Anjuman have, on the other hand, shown by their deed and spontaneous defence of Zoroastrians that the Anjuman consists of men of action, conviction and character who are above communalism. The society's head
and members must be differentiated from the brave exponents of inexpensive words. The meeting was remarkable for its sobriety and businesslike procedure. Only one very eloquent speech was made by Aga Mahomed
Rahim Behbahani, in which the usual sentiments were given expression to; but this time the meanest intelligence could perceive that what was said was meant. The Parsis, we have no doubt, are duly grateful
to the Anjuman, to its President and the Vice-Consul for Persia at Karachi. It will take long before an action of such generosity initiated by the enlightened among the Persian Mussalman is forgotten by the Parsis.
If the thanks of sincere Nationalists today are due to the Indians of Behar, the gratitude of prudent internationalists is tarnished by the Anjuman-e-Muvaddat of Bom-
bay. We particularly commend the dignified and dispassionate resolutions and the spirit of unalloyed brotherliness which inspired the action of the Anjuman.

Petty Parsimony.
The Corporation has referred to the Schools Committee Mr. P. G. Sahasrabudhe's
suggestion to conduct the lower primary
classes on the double-shift plan from 7
a.m. to 1 p.m. and then again for another set of boys from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. The suggestion, if adopted will certainly make some saving. But is it in this spirit of parsimony that the premier municipality is going to give the city free and compulsory primary education? And need that economy
be at the expense of the medium of knowledge to the little ones, many of whom will not have any schooling after the primary
stage and may soon relapse into illiteracy?
The fresh children that will attend the new schools under the compulsory plan will not
be in a position to get any home tuition.
They require all possible instruction to be given to them in schools, which are probably
healthier than their homes.

Unfair to Both.
Why rob them and other children too in the lower classes—of their little instruction? With only three hours' work, the tendency would certainly
be to drop drill, organised play, drawing,
music, kindergarten work, story-telling etc.,
which are a vital part of children's education. It will be impossible to make any effective improvements in the curriculum,
and the present curriculum needs a lot of reform. The teachers' work by double repetition would be more monotonous and devoid
of interest, and that in the very classes
where everything should be made as interesting as possible. And, after all, when all the boys get into the upper classes more rooms will have to be found for them. We have barely mentioned but a few of the objections to the proposal.
Beyond a little saving there is no advantage
in it, but there is every disadvantage. It will be only taking away with the left hand
what is given with the right. Is the Corporation driven to such straits? What an example will it be to the poorer municipalities! We trust the Schools Committee will turn down the proposal summarily.

The Youth's Call.
The young are innocent: their impulses
pure and generous; and it is not surprising
that the communal excesses in the Punjab
have at last stirred the youth of the province to assert themselves a little. The League of Youth, Lahore, has unanimously
passed a resolution condemning communal rancour and appealing to the youth of the country to dissociate themselves from every
programme of work which tends to deepen
the gulf between Hindus and Muslims, and
by their personal influence in their daily
life, to promote mutual understanding and goodwill between the two communities. We wish the young men of the Punjab every success. If they would but lead the way
with some concrete work, the Youth of
other provinces will not be slow to emulate
their example.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

ATTACKS ON THE RIGHTS OF TRADE UNIONISM.

(By A CASUAL OBSERVER.)

Possibly the most outstanding feature of the Annual Conference of the British Conservative Party, which was held last week,
was the resolutions dealing with the Trade Unions. One of these demanded the repeal of the Trades Dispute Act (1906) and
the other insisted on a secret ballot preceding all strikes.

It has been suggested that these resolutions are the outcome of the general strike,
but, as a matter of fact, they are annual
features of the Conservative Conferences.
Their special significance on this occasion
is that there is now an extra incentive in Government circles to transform them from mere pious resolutions into State legislation.
The resolution dealing with the necessity
for secret ballots can be summarily dismiss-
ed. That proviso is already embodied in the constitutions of the majority of the British Trade Unions and, since it is a well-known fact that the rank and file are almost invariably more militant than the leaders,
the insistence on secret ballots would strengthen
rather than weaken, the hands of the latter.

A Dangerous Proposal.

The really dangerous proposal is the one
which demands the repeal of the Trades Disputes Act, and because of its historical importance this measure is worthy of attention.
In 1903 the Trade Union world was shocked
by a decision of the courts, whereby a railway company successfully sued a railway
union for damages in respect of losses caused by the withdrawal of Labour. By virtue of this decision (known as the Taff Vale Judgment) the very existence of trade unionism was jeopardised. It meant that the union funds were exposed to the raids of the
employers; who by bringing successful actions against the unions would reduce them
to bankruptcy and ultimate disruption. Fortunately, the Labour movement was quick to realise the danger of this situation. A widespread and sustained agitation was conducted throughout the country and after three years the Government was compelled to pass the Trades Disputes Act which entirely revoked the court's decision in the Taff Vale Case. Repeatedly since 1906
both the Conservatives and the Liberals
have shown desires to have the Act repealed
and now, being forced to witness the rapid growth of the Labour movement and the development of a more aggressive spirit
amongst the masses, their desires are naturally intensified.

In the Interest of Capitalism.

Simultaneous with the news of the Conservative Conference resolutions we have
information of similar activities being generated in another part of the Empire. The Federal Government of Australia have decided that steps must be taken to safeguard
the community against the ever-recurring
industrial disturbances and as a result they propose to take a referendum vote on two very important legislative measures. The first of these, if endorsed, will entrust the Government with the task of maintaining supplies of the essential commodities for the public during industrial upheavals. From the information available it seems that this
proposal is similar to the Emergency Powers
Act of the Imperial Parliament—a measure, which when stripped of all its decorations, simply legalises blacklegging. The second proposal is equally important. It deals more specifically with the Trade Unions, demands a secret ballot before a strike
and introduces clauses that appear to announce of compulsory arbitration.

The resolutions of the Conservative Conference and the proposals of the Federal Government of Australia are the same in essence. Although quite independent of each other, they are prompted by the same
instinctive desire to protect the interests of Capitalism. The aim in both cases is the same; namely, to cripple the Trade Unions and deprive them of the power of resisting the repeated on-slauhts of the employers.

What About India?

The events outlined above are of value in
that they indicate the attitude of British Imperialism towards Trade Unionism, and
in this respect they have a special significance
for the pioneers of the Indian Trade Union Movement. It is, of course, universally recognised that the new policy of British Imperialism is to develop India as an industrial country rather than as formerly a source of raw materials. India has already an industrial army of nearly 20 millions and it is continually on the increase. It is likewise a well-known fact that where you find Capitalism and large-scale industry, there also you will find the workers of the first line of defence
—the Trade Unions. Despite all sorts of legislation, repressive measures and persecutions the workers the world over, have maintained the elementary rights of organisation.

The Indian Trade Union Movement is still in its infancy. Its membership, on a liberal estimate, is no more than 250,000,
and as yet it cannot claim to be represen-

"GANG OF MURDERERS."

LABOURITE ATTACK UPON GOVERNMENT.

DEBATE ON COAL MINES BILL.

LONDON, July 1. The final stage of the Coal Mines Eight Hours Day Bill opened menacingly. Mr. Bailey (Labourite) asked the Speaker not to press the Third Reading of the Bill, declaring that if he did, no Ministerialist would be allowed to speak. The Speaker said his duty was to conduct the business of the House and he intended to do so. The Rt. Hon. Bridgeman then moved the third reading.

"GANG OF MURDERERS." He was repeatedly interrupted by the Labourites who accused him of provocation. The Rt. Hon. Bridgeman said he was defending the leader of his Party, when he was called a murderer and a liar.

Mr. Jack Jones interrupted, "You are a murderer."

He refused to withdraw his remark and left the House. As he did so he turned towards the Ministerialists and shouted, "The whole gang of you are murderers." The Rt. Hon. Bridgeman then proceeded with his speech in comparative silence.

WHAT IS THIS FUSS ABOUT. Mr. Bailey failing to prevent the Rt. Hon. Bridgeman from speaking left the House.

The Speaker was compelled to rebuke a number of Labourites and declared that both the sides should be heard.

The Rt. Hon. Bridgeman resumed with a remark: "I really do not know what all the fuss is about" (loud laughter), and concluded by asking the House to pass the Bill which gave free choice to free men.

A DASTARDLY ATTACK.

Mr. Hartshorn (Labourite) said the Bill was a dastardly attack on the miners. Its passage would raise the most awful situation that there had ever been in the mining industry and depress the standard of life of the miners throughout the world. All workers in the country would consider Mr. Stanley Baldwin the greatest enemy of the workers that the last generation had produced. (Prolonged Labourite cheers.)—Reuter.

EIGHT-HOUR BILL PASSED.PREMIER BLAMES MINERS' FEDERATION.

LONDON, July 1. Mr. Baldwin at the outset hoped shortly to announce the personnel of certain very important committees to consider such subjects as selling agencies and large trucks which were dealt with in the Coal Commission's Report.

He declared that the Miners' Federation had refused to bridge the gap between the selling price of coal and the cost of production or produced a policy for the interim period required for reorganisation. This had driven the Government to see if progress was possible by a modification of hours. He pointed out that the coal industry had been in a process of transition for some time between the old and the modern working methods. Some pits, which no student could make profitable, would have to close down. In any settlement, one of the problems would be the settlement of displaced men. The present restriction on the enlistment of men into the mining industry who were not previously in it, might help, but it could not meet the whole case.

HIS FRUITLESS ENDEAVOUR.

Mr. Baldwin declared that unless negotiations which he had fruitlessly endeavoured to arrange between the contending parties were possible, there appeared very little hope of anything being done. He asked if the Labourites were absolutely satisfied in their own hearts as to the wisdom of the policy of the Miners' Federation. (Some Labour cries of Yes.) If the Federation even now could accept the report and all that it implied, which was what they struggled for in April, Mr. Baldwin believed that a mutually satisfactory settlement could be reached.

The House of Commons passed the third reading of the Coal Mines' Eight Hours Day Bill by 332 votes to 147.—Reuter.

MINERS DETERMINEDNOT TO ACCEPT 8-HOUR DAY

LONDON, July 2. The third reading of the Coal Mines Hours Bill by the House of Commons lends additional interest to the coalowners' assurance that they will be able under the Bill to offer 850,000 men the same wages as before the stoppage. The question now is whether the miners will accept the offer. The owners

GERMAN GOVERNMENT'S DEBACLE.

OPPOSITION FROM RIGHT WING.

LONDON, July 1. Berlin.—Germany is again in the throes of a political crisis, as a result of the meeting of the Socialist Party of the Reichstag deciding to vote against the Government Compromise Bill with regard to the property of the ex-rulers. As the Right parties are also opposed to the measure, it cannot possibly obtain the required two-thirds majority. The Government has intimated that if the Reichstag does not pass the Bill, it will resign or ask for a dissolution.—Reuter.

SEQUEL TO BETHLEN ASSAULTEXTRADITION OF DEJUSTH REFUSED

LONDON, July 1. Geneva.—The Hungarian application for the extradition of Ivan Dejusth who assaulted Count Bethlen, the Hungarian Premier, at Geneva has been refused, but the Federal Council has instructed the Magistrate to fine Dejusth two thousand francs and caution him.—Reuter.

RUSO-TURKISH PROTOCOL.NO OBLIGATIONS OF THIRD POWER

LONDON, July 1. Moscow.—Simultaneously with the ratification at Constantinople on 30th June of the Russo-Turkish Paris Treaty, the Soviet Ambassador and the Turkish Foreign Minister have signed the Protocol declaring, firstly, that when the Paris Treaty was signed the two parties had no obligations towards a third power in contradiction of the Paris Treaty, secondly, that the parties have undertaken no such obligations since the signature, and thirdly, that the parties will not undertake any such obligations while the Treaty is in operation.—Reuter.

The death of Brigadier W. S. Turner is announced.

The M. C. C. have issued a statement regarding the water on the wicket at Lord's, on 28th June, that they have satisfied themselves that there was no malicious intent in laying out a hosepipe, but the flooding of the ground was due to carelessness of such of the ground staff as were concerned with the pitch.

They declare their belief that many will accept, but Mr. Cook continues to assert that the miners are determined not to accept the eight hour day and last evening he offered to have a ballot of the miners on the subject.

Meanwhile enormous loss owing to the stoppage is exemplified by the facts that the national revenue for the first quarter of the financial year has declined by 22,340 thousand sterling compared with the corresponding period of the last year while over two and a half million persons are unemployed.—Reuter's Special.

ADDRESS TO KINGFOR MESSAGE CONTINUING STATE OF EMERGENCY

LONDON, July 2. In Commons to-day Rt. Hon. Sir W. Joynson-Hicks moved that an Address be presented to His Majesty thanking him for his gracious message continuing the state of emergency. He emphasised that the motion was a survival memorial from courtesy. Government, not His Majesty, were responsible for emergency regulations. He hoped that the Labour Party would allow the motion to be passed without any remark reflecting on the Crown.

Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes moved an amendment "regretting the policy of Government which was an impediment to maintaining and restoring the peace in the coal industry and consequently a menace to public order."—Reuter.

RECEPTION TO MR. SAKLATVALA M. P.CONSTITUENTS RE-ENDORSE HIS POLICY*SPECIAL TO "THE CHRONICLE."

LONDON, June 30. The constituents of Mr. Shapurji Saklatvala, M.P., organized a grand social reception on Monday at the Battersea Townhall and re-endorsed his British-Indian and International policy.

CAIRO EARTHQUAKE.

RUIN IN ITS WAKE.

4000 HOUSES SWEEPED: 110 MEN KILLED.

LONDON, July 1. Cairo.—The severity of Saturday's earthquake is shown by an official report that over 4,000 houses have been destroyed, 74 mosques have been damaged, 110 persons killed and 60 injured. Foyoum district which was particularly affected accounted for 85 killed and 62 injured.—Reuter.

RAILWAYS IN UKRAINIAN.PURCHASE OF GERMAN WORKS.

LONDON, July 2. Berlin.—The Ukrainian Government is negotiating with Rheinmetall, one of Germany's biggest machinery works for the sale of the latter's entire locomotive department. The Russians propose to erect the works at Kharkoff and take over the German staff for the purpose of building engines for the Russian railways. The purchase price is said to be about six million sterling.—Reuter.

FIRE ON STEAMERTHREE DAYS FIGHT WITH FLAMES

LONDON, July 2. The three days' fight with flames was described by the crew of Henderson liner "Sagging" which has arrived at Plymouth from Rangoon. Fire broke out in a hold while the steamer was in the Mediterranean owing to spontaneous combustion. All ventilators were stopped, steam and water were pumped in and hundreds of tons of coal and cargo were moved before the fire was extinguished. The Chief Officer and the Second Engineer had narrow escapes from two explosions which were followed by the blinding rush of the flame up the hatchway owing to the gas generated. The calmness of the crew and passengers was shown by the fact that the usual deck amusements including dancing at night went on uninterrupted.—Reuter.

A BAD OMEN.WILL THERE BE NEW FRENCH CABINET?

LONDON, July 1. Paris.—M. Caillaux and the Chamber were compelled to yield to the Senate yesterday evening as regards certain credits regularising the arrears of last year's budget, which are usually voted practically without debate. The Chamber yesterday voted and the Senate rejected two articles. This is regarded as boding ill for Tuesday's big debate on Government's financial proposals.—Reuter's Special.

IN DEFENCE OF WHITE WOMAN.NAIROBI TIGHTENS LAW'S GRIP.

NAIROBI, July 1. A special meeting of the Legislative Assembly to-day passed the Amending Bill to the present Criminal Ordinance, providing for maximum sentence of death and a minimum of three years for rape, imprisonment for life for attempted rape, and imprisonment for fourteen years for assault and outrage of a woman's modesty. Power is also given to the courts to impose whipping in addition to the sentence. This amendment follows the South African and Rhodesian law brought in owing to the anxiety arising from a number of recent cases; but it will not be retrospective. Thus it will not affect one outstanding case which is now "sub-judice."—Reuter.

VAGARIES OF STORE DEPARTMENT

WASTE OF PUBLIC MONEY.

PURCHASE OF FOREIGN CEMENT.

The following letter No. T-1173, dated 27th May 1926 has been addressed by the Committee of the Indian Merchants' Chamber to the Government of India on the non-acceptance of the lowest tender for purchase of cement by the India Store Department, London:—

Sir, At the time of the visit of the Honourable Member for Industries to the Committee of this Chamber, on the 12th April 1926 they drew his attention to the case of a purchase of cement at £11,100 against £9,900 quoted by another British firm whose tender was the lowest. The explanatory remark of the High Commissioner was that the indenting officer had insisted on cement of the Associated Portland Cement Company and that therefore they had to pay the higher price. My Committee had then pointed out to the Honourable Member that cement was successfully manufactured in this country for several years now and was able to stand the severest test and that therefore there was no justification for ordering this article from England. The position was far worse if the indenting officer not only ordered from England but insisted on buying from a particular manufacturer instead of trusting to the highly trained staff of the London Store Department to see that the goods obtained were of the right quality. My Committee emphasised that this was an altogether uncalled for waste of public money and expressed the hope that the matter would be looked into. The Honourable Member in his reply insisted that the Government could not buy Indian cement if the foreign article could be had appreciably cheaper. He also urged that the indenting officers had their predilections for certain goods of the quality of which they had been satisfied by long experience. My Committee would respectfully point out that as for the question of price it is notorious that the prices of Indian cements are cheaper than those of imported cements except for Burma or the South of India where the distance makes the cost of the Indian article too high. My Committee would therefore be glad if the Government could inform them whether this particular order was for some destination not within the sphere of Indian cement companies and if so what this destination was.

RANK FAVOURITISM.

My Committee would further urge that Government should specify the standards to which all cements used in Government Departments should conform and then issue instructions that indenting officers should buy their cement in India so long as cement conforming to such specifications was available at the right price. They beg to submit that when hundreds of thousands of tons of cement are being used all over the country for the past ten years or more there is absolutely no excuse for indenting officers to say that experience of the quality of Indian cement is not available. Again, when there is actually an excess of producing capacity in the country itself, it should not be left to the whims of a particular indenting officer to buy his own requirements of this article outside India. It should also be impressed on all indenting officers that Government do not approve of the policy of favouring a particular manufacturer as in the above case in the purchase of articles of such general use as cement or paper. A glaring case of similar favouritism in the matter of purchases in the case of paper was brought to the notice of my Committee through the six-monthly statement issued by the High Commissioner for the period ending 31st December 1924. They addressed a communication to the Government of India in this connection on 31st March 1925, wherein they observed:—

"With regard to paper the indenting officer seems to have insisted upon Messrs. Dickinson's papers, though there is no plausible reason why such an emphasis should be made upon the paper manufactured by this particular firm."

WASTE OF PUBLIC MONEY.

We say that this was a glaring case because the price charged by the favoured manufacturer was £2,457 against the lowest satisfactory tender (which also was a British tender) of £1,600 or nearly 50 per cent. higher. My Committee will be glad to know what action Government took on their letter of 31st March 1925 and whether the officer in question was called upon for any explanation as to why he favoured Dickinson's paper when there are not a few other manufacturers of first class reputation in

LAND REVENUE ASSESSMENT.

WHO IS THE OWNER OF SOIL.

MR DADUBHAI DESAI'S NOTE.

The following is the continuation of the Note on Land Revenue submitted by Rao Sahib Dadubhai P. Desai, M.L.C., to the Land Revenue Assessment Committee:—

I know the above proposals will reduce the land revenue of the state to some extent, but at the same time they will reduce the expenditure also in a great measure. Many of the offices will have to be closed down and the responsibilities being lessened. The salaries of high officers could be safely brought down without diminishing their efficiency. But I am not concerned with these matters which could be handled by those who were responsible for them. My concern is that the agriculturists should have a fair and just treatment and no injustice or unfairness should be shown to them, and they should not be robbed of their inherent rights and even if this justice and fairness made the Government poorer, I would not hesitate to recommend the Government to live in tumbledown 'shanties' and go without modern luxuries.

DRASTIC REMEDIES CALLED FOR.

As in the case of a physical body so in the case of a body politic, serious maladies call for drastic remedies and no patch work like giving a dose and grain operations here or digging and clearing a canal or tank there, collecting funds for distributing doles of clothes and grain here, or starting famine works there can uplift a peasantry which is being bled white all the while. Industries and trade can rely upon protective duties to help them on duties which mainly fall on the agriculturists and raise their cost of production and living, but which they cheerfully agree to bear in order to help struggling industries but at the same time, the agriculturists expect a corresponding relief to them in these days of world prices when they are beaten down by the large scale production of other countries.

In the above discussion I have omitted all mention of ancient procedure, laws and history, and confined myself to the modern practice as outlined in the Government papers and publications, but if we look into the past history and ancient laws we shall find that both the Hindu and Mahomedan religions and laws emphatically deny the State ownership of lands and consider it a great sin on the part of the State to assume it.

OWNERSHIP OF SOIL.

According to Manu a king is not the owner of a field or even of a country, for the field belongs to the one who cleared the jungle and the earth (i.e., Prithvi) belongs to Prithu—a mythological prince, meaning thereby that the king is not the lord or owner of the earth but a ruler of men. Chaturvarneya says (Brihgs page 62, the king who takes more than 1/8th shall be deemed impious in this world and shall be cast into hell flames in the next. Gulam Hussein says the emperor is the proprietor of the revenue, he is not the proprietor of the soil. These and a host of other authorities from both the Hindu and Mahomedan religions and laws may be cited to prove that the assumption of the ownership of lands by the present Government could not be supported on the ground of ancient usage and practice.

I have tried to show that even the decadent rulers had desisted from doing what the present Government have done, but meaning that a period of chaos and misrule was responsible for the present policy, still it is no merit in a good Government to inaugurate a period of chaos and misrule for the justification of its own measure and for perpetuating misdeeds of chaotic period.

It is also a wrong policy on the part of an advanced Government to set an injurious example to others less advanced than itself. Had the British Government not levied Land Revenue at half the gross produce in Gujarat, during the earlier part of their rule, no Indian Chief would have followed such a practice, and if the British Government has not set themselves as 'landlords' of the 'conquered' lands none of the Indian Chiefs would have done so, and if the British Government had not introduced the present land revenue policy none of the Chiefs would have introduced it in a worse form. The almost criminal exploitation and ease of conscience that such a condition gives birth to on either side, are not a little responsible for the backwardness of the entire country.

Coming now to the minor considerations and the executive side of the policy, it appears that the policy observed in the grouping of villages is faulty in the extreme. Without looking to the comforts or conveniences of a village or villages, a steady and consistent policy of reducing the number of groups is followed, so much so that it is not surprising to find a whole taluka of one group only. This policy of reducing the number of villages in lower groups and ultimately of reducing the number of groups has the effect of raising the rate of village without raising the maximum rates, but when the maximum rates are also increased the village that are raised to a higher group have to suffer from two additional burdens.

As regards classification of the soil, it has its own drawbacks too and I have found that the classification of the soil is unfair in many places and to my mind if proper inquiry is made it will be found that many soils have not been given allowance for the 'faulks' found in them. In fact, sometimes, though the survey experts admit that the classification is wrong yet it is not lowered.

tative of the workers in industry. Nevertheless it has shown itself to be a virile and capable growth, and it is gaining rapidly in experience and membership. British Imperialism conscious of these facts and convinced by a 100 years' experience that trade unionism cannot be crushed, has taken upon itself the task of guiding the Indian Trade Union Movement into the most harmless and ineffective channels possible.

The first step in this direction is the Trade Union Registration Act, which has been passed by the Legislative Assembly and will soon come into force. It is not necessary to go into the details of this Act, two main points are sufficient to show its real character. Trade Unions coming under the Registration Act will be purely trade associations. No portion of their funds or their activities can be devoted to either political or educational spheres of trade union work. These restrictions are of the most vital importance and their adverse effect will become more pronounced as the Unions develop numerically and in influence. Look abroad. In Britain the Trade Unions are the backbone of the British Labour Party, providing 80 per cent. of the funds and the membership. The network of Labour Colleges that exist all over the British Isles are only possible because of the financial and moral support of the Trade Unions. The Colleges in training political and industrial leaders for the movement, are a boon to the working class.

Similarly in India the Trade Union Movement must be granted the privilege of working in these spheres. Failure to concede these privileges will only lead to unnecessary strife and bitterness. Mr. Joshi has already pointed out the short-comings of the Registration Act in the Legislative Assembly and, although on that occasion his pleadings were in vain, the Government may yet be convinced of the folly of its deeds, if only those who have the interests of the toiling masses of India at heart will rally to the support of the Trade Unions in their pursuit of the elementary rights of organisation.

this line both in England and on the Continent. My Committee would respectfully submit that the cases cited here are cases of inexcusable waste of money and Government should take steps to put such cases down with a strong hand and should insist that the Indian Stores Department both in India and London should never be tied down by purchasing officers to any particular maker except when it is some article of the patent or speciality of such maker.

Trusting that this matter will have the attention that its importance deserves,

ANOTHER GLARING CASE

MORE MONEY THROWN AWAY

The following letter No. T-1173, dated 1st June 1926 has been addressed by the Committee of the Indian Merchants' Chamber to the Government of India, on non-acceptance of the lowest tender regarding purchase of Purgie Cloth by the India Store Department, London:—

Sir,—
I am directed by the Committee of this Chamber to draw your attention to the item of Purgie Cloth in the abstract for half-year ending 31st December 1925 of cases in which the lowest tender was not accepted.

The explanation given is that 'Delivery was very urgently required.' My Committee fail to see why there was any urgency about the supply of this article. If the country was at war and the fitting out of units for the front was in hand they could understand the urgency but this was not the case when this Purgie Cloth was ordered and they cannot help feeling that the indenting officer whoever he is, has been guilty of an abuse of his powers and should be called upon for an explanation to show why this cloth was indented not only as 'urgent' but 'very urgent.'

The amount involved in this particular case is small, but my Committee have been constrained to draw pointed attention to it as it is very glaring instance of indenting officers throwing away money by calling for urgent deliveries when there cannot be any need for urgency and when goods delivered in the ordinary course would serve the purpose equally well.

My Committee will be glad if Government can see their way to issue instructions to purchasing officers not to ask for 'urgent' or 'very urgent' deliveries when the delay of a few weeks or months cannot possibly do any harm as in the case of the Purgie cloth above-mentioned and to state their reasons for the urgency if any in the copy of their indents to be forwarded to the Chief Controller of Stores. My Committee consider the issue of such instructions very necessary in the interests of economy as urgency is a frequent reason adduced for the non-acceptance of the lowest tender.

SWARAJISTS AND THE ASSEMBLY

MOVE FOR A 'WALK IN'

MADRAS, July 1.

In an interview to the "Swarajya" on the subject of his lengthy communication to the Secretary of the All-India Congress Committee, Mr. M. K. Acharya suggests that all the Swarajist members of the Legislative Assembly should be present at the Simla session to resist any possible attempt of the Bureaucracy to introduce any measures to consolidate its powers, and no time will be available to the Congress Special Committee to decide the question and issue instructions. Another ground he urges for attendance is that the members can reiterate the national demand for an immediate constitutional advance. They did it at the beginning of the life of the present Assembly; they repeated it in the middle and should do it once more at its end, repeat it to the new Viceroy and make the demand an issue at the coming elections and obtain a mandate from the electorate.—A.P.

DESECRATION OF IMAGES

PANIC IN PABNA

CALCUTTA, July 2.

A Pabna message states that images of Kali, Sarswati and Shasti, worshipped in a place near the Deputy Magistrate's house, were removed, mutilated and left on the road. The Magistrate and the Sub-Divisional Officer visited the spot. About 10,000 Hindus led the mutilated images in procession through the main thoroughfares with music. The procession, it is stated, was fruitlessly opposed by the Muslims as it was passing a mosque.—Free Press.

COMMUNAL TENSION IN PUNJAB

RAWALPINDI, July 2.

Hindu-Muslim tension still prevails. Wounded persons of both communities are coming here daily from the mofussil and the total number of wounded has now risen over 100. One Hindu named Khemchand, belonging to Dera Ismail Khan, who came to Rawalpindi on the night of the disturbances is alleged to have been murdered that night, but his dead body has not yet been recovered. Five more Hindus were arrested on June 20th by the police including Sardar Kirpalsingh, landlord and proprietor of Cafe Royal who has been charged under Sections 326 Indian Penal Code.—A.P.

ARRESTED PERSONS

CAN POLICE DETAIN THEM INDEFINITELY?

CALCUTTA, July 2.

The question whether the Calcutta police can detain an arrested person indefinitely was discussed at the High Court to-day before Justice Rankin and Justice Chotzner, when the rule in the nature of Habeas Corpus issued on behalf of Sulaiman and others came up for hearing. The case arose out of the last Bakri-Id disturbances, when an Oriya was killed near Kanaisa street and Sulaiman and 13 others were arrested and kept in custody. Subsequently an application for bail was made before Mr. Hunt, Deputy Commissioner of Police, who refused it. One of the grounds, it is alleged, was that they would not be released until they had helped the authorities in tracing the culprits.

Mr. A. N. Sen appearing for Sulaiman and others said that these men were being detained simply for the purpose of extorting confession from them. Whatever it may be, the police had no right to keep them in detention simply to get some assistance from them. He submitted that the detention was at any rate, improper. Counsel then dealt with the legality of the arrest and the detention.

Their Lordships reserved judgment.—F. P. I.

KARMA AND ELECTIONS.

OPPOSITION TO PROTAGONISTS OF PACT.

CALCUTTA, July 1.

At a meeting of the Congress Karma (Workers) Sangha, a programme was adopted including the organisation of all communities for preserving their civil and political rights on national and not communal basis, social reconstruction, village sanitation and the formation of labour and peasant unions. The Sangha will not support the candidature for the legislatures of those who are in favour of Hindu-Muslim Pact.—A. P.

MANDVI TRAGEDY.

INTERPELLATIONS IN THE ASSEMBLY

KARACHI, July 2.

Mr. Harichandrai Vishindas, M.L.A., has given notice of a question in the Assembly about the Mandvi Tragedy. He will ask: 'What measure have Government in contemplation to avoid such fatalities, and if they would direct the steamship companies to provide steam launches in lieu of the country crafts, (2), 'Will Government be pleased to order better landing facilities on the shore, say piers or quays, instead of the present arrangements?' (3) 'Have Government in contemplation the recognition of the heroic services of Tindal Ebrahim?' (4) 'Are Government aware that deck passengers are discharged from the steamers into boats being tossed from the port holes like luggage or goods?' (5) 'Will Government be pleased to direct the Company to instruct its captains of steamers to clear the gangways for the discharge of deck passengers as is done in the case of first and second class passengers.—Free Press.

NATIONAL PARTY LEADERS' TOUR

MYMENSINGH, July 2.

Messrs. Bopin Chandar Pal and Devprasad Ghose and party reached here yesterday and were met by the leading men of Mymensingh. There was a frank discussion on the present situation, political and communal. By entering the Councils, said Mr. Pal, they could not merely obstruct. Even Swarajists practised Responsive Co-operation while supporting the Tata Protection Bill. The Communal Ministry threatened by Sir Abdur Rahim was only preventable by the Responsive policy.—Free Press.

NEW RULE OF TRANSFER

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES' PROTEST.

LUCKNOW, July 2.

It is stated that the Chief Operating Superintendent, East Indian Railway, has issued an order that the ticket-collectors at the Lucknow Railway Station will be subject to yearly transfers in future. This order has caused much anxiety among them and it is understood that they have submitted an appeal asking that the order be rescinded. The employees state that their wages are just enough to keep the wolf from the door and that these yearly transfers would cause them great inconvenience, as it will necessitate the transfer of their children from one school to another, hampering the progress of their education. They also state that expenditure and housing accommodation elsewhere (where they will not be granted the privilege of free quarters) will be a burden on their slender resources.—Free Press.

SALMAS MILITARY FORCE REVOLTS

TROOPS DESPATCHED AGAINST INSURGENTS

LONDON, July 2.

Tehran.—A military force, stationed at Salmas about 50 miles from Tabriz, rose in revolt and killed its commandant. It then marched to Khoy where it was joined by a force there. They marched together to Maku on the Turco-Persian frontier where they were joined by a force at that place and started looting. Troops were immediately despatched from Tabriz against the insurgents.

A regiment about 1200 strong has been despatched from the capital to Bujnurd in Khorasan where some trouble has occurred.—Reuter.

CANADIAN CRISIS

MEIGHEN GOVT. DEFEATED

LONDON, July 2.

Ottawa.—The political crisis has been renewed in acute form in consequence of the defeat in the House of Commons, by 96 votes to 93, of the Meighen, Conservative Government after holding office for three days. The defeat occurred on a Liberal motion declaring that the Ministers were sitting unconstitutionally as they were not qualified to hold seats in the House without re-election on appointment. Fourteen Progressive voted for Government and three against.—Reuter.

"THE SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS"

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—On the eve of the last Senate Meeting as a method of propaganda, there appeared in the press correspondence relating to Prof. K. T. Shah's reappointment as University Professor of Economics. An inspired article in the "Times of India" led the attack; the writer had evidently seen the report of the Committee to examine into the working of the School of Economics. Without having the courage to publish the report as a matter of public interest he chose to make secretly veiled innuendoes against "at least one of the teachers" of the School of Economics.

We are told that Prof. Shah is so busy doing literary, journalistic, pamphleteering political and other non-academic work that he is not accessible to his students. We are not told what the writer regards as proper time to be devoted by the University professor to his students. Would he be surprised to learn that in England the University professor devotes only about one hour per week to each research student? Besides, is a professor of Economics precluded from taking part in public affairs? Does the University expect him to live within his study evolving algebraic formulae on the relation of value to marginal vendibility, the inclination of the curve to the rate of enjoyment of successive increments? There is a view of economics as mainly a descriptive science to master which requires a keen and extensive knowledge of economic institutions of Society as they in fact function.

It is well-known that several such professors in England are active advisers and consultants of business firms or banking institutions. I have heard one of them claim that his intimate knowledge of the London Stock Exchange was due to valued friendships with prominent members of the Exchange. Is not Mr. Keynes president of an Insurance Company? And what is wrong with pamphleteering? Prof. Dicey has written two lively pamphlets on "Female Suffrage" and "Irish Home Rule". Their tone I am sure would shock some of the members of our Senate. Mr. Dalton is never weary of expounding capital levy and socialism; he contested seats for the House of Commons; he is always writing articles and making speeches. But I have seen no proposal to remove him from his post in the London School of Economics. Mr. Lee Smith is actually a member of Parliament. Mr. Laski one of the most brilliant thinkers of the day is an example of one addicted to "multifarious literary, journalistic, pamphleteering political and other non-academic work". Mr. Laski is not even conventional in his politics. He delights in his red tie.

Prof. Shah with all the defects of style of writing knowns his subject more accurately than the numerous metaphysician economists who thrive in this country. We have too many imitators of John Mill who was master of philosophy, logic, economics, Spargue the perorations varied by unintelligible diagrams illustrating the obvious which pass for Indian economics. It is to be hoped that the Fellows of the Senate will not be bullied or cajoled by Anglo-Indian journals and anonymous sneaks in this matter of the reappointment of Prof. Shah.—Yours, etc.,

R. K. DESAI.

Once a hopeless case

DOCTOR'S REPORT

In 1912 I made a report on the case of Cyril D. Colston, then of 13, Stoney Lane, Sparkbrook, Birmingham, as being a very striking example of the beneficial effects of VIROL in certain forms of malnutrition in children. Some rather remarkable photographs showing the boy 'before' and 'after' the addition of VIROL to his diet accompanied the report. Having regard to the very extraordinary condition of extreme emaciation shown in the 'before' photograph, it is of considerable interest to find that, at the age of 18, he is a normal healthy young adult, showing no trace of the period of strain to which his organism must have been subjected at the time of his illness at the age of 5.

An Extraordinary Recovery
"I enclose recent photographs for your inspection. It is to be noted that he is of average build and that his muscular system is well developed. He is mentally alert and his school life was quite normal. He gained several distinctions in athletics, and for one year held the swimming championship of his school. He is now engaged in the business of watchmaking, and is, I understand, a clever workman.

'Nothing less than a miracle'
"I need hardly say that his parents are highly delighted with the result, which they describe as nothing less than a miracle.

"From a medical point of view the case has been of considerable interest to me. I am fully satisfied that VIROL was the factor which enabled him as a child not only to turn the corner successfully in a very serious illness, but in subsequent years of development (during which he never ceased to take VIROL) enabled him to build up a healthy body and gave him a reserve of power and energy sufficient to compete successfully in athletics and to win a swimming championship."

COLOUR BAR.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S OPPOSITION.

Mr. J. H. Harris writes in "The Daily Chronicle":—

During the General Strike a momentous thing happened in the British Empire—colour in a British subject was, in effect, declared to be a legislative disability.

The final act must now, apparently, take place automatically, namely, British Royal assent given to legislation which, for the first time, declares that colour of itself is a legislative "bar" to any civic or industrial advancement.

White trade unions of South Africa have won a notable, if disgraceful, victory over the 6,000,000 native and coloured people in the Union, and these millions are now consigned to perpetual helotry.

If the conflagration deliberately started by General Hertzog's Labour 'Secessionist' Coalition is not quickly extinguished its flames of passion and race hatred will spread through the 350,000,000 of coloured people within the British Empire and quite conceivably to other millions without.

JOINT PARLIAMENTARY VOTE.

The vote in the joint Parliamentary sitting of Senate and Assembly in South Africa is the culmination of a struggle which commenced in the early days of Queen Victoria and President Kruger, when the British Queen formally and by solemn treaty asserted that in British South Africa there should not be "in the eye of the law any distinction or disqualification whatever founded on mere distinction of colour," whereas President Kruger's Government countered that declaration with "there is no equality in Church or State between white or black."

During the following 25 years these antagonistic policies were more or less dormant. Then in 1911 came the first legislative step in the Mines and Works Act, from which flowed "regulations" barring the natives of South Africa from all skilled trades and restricting colour to unskilled trades.

Seven years later another turn of the screw was made when the white trade unions threatened a lightning strike unless every coloured person engaged in sharpening drills was dismissed forthwith.

In 1923 the natives won a great victory in the Supreme Court of South Africa which declared that the colour bar regulations were "ultra vires"—"unreasonable, capricious and arbitrary."

WHEN SMUTS FELL.

It had been hoped that the white unions would have accepted the decision but with the fall of the Smuts Administration and the accession to power of the Hertzog Coalition the trade unions at once insisted on a law being passed making the natives of South Africa for all time the slaves of South African industry.

The fight which has raged round this Bill has been a most bitter one. Last year the measure was driven through the Assembly but the Senate threw it out. In February of this year it was again passed by the Assembly, this time by 68 votes to 46, and then came into operation Article 63 of the South Africa Act which provides that where the two Houses of Parliament fail to agree upon a measure both shall sit or vote together.

This historic sitting took place during the days of the General Strike and, after passionate speeches, out of a total voting strength of 166, there were cast 150 votes, of which 83 were for the Bill and 67 against—that is, 83 for making South Africa "half slave-half free."

BILL OF RIGHTS.

The final act is that Royal Assent must be given for a measure which Queen Victoria said should never be passed into law under the British Crown.

The native peoples of South Africa have presented to Parliament a "Bill of Rights," which includes five main principles, the justice of which cannot surely be challenged. They ask first that they should be allowed to abide "in the land of their fathers"; secondly, that they should be allowed to enjoy full ownership title to land in their own country; thirdly, that all British subjects should be entitled to equal status in the eye of British law; fourthly, that regardless of race, colour, class or origin, they should be accorded equality of citizenship; and finally, that they should be given a "fair share in the management and direction of the affairs of their permanent abode."

HOW SHALL I FEED BABY?

MOTHER!

The coming of baby—the greatest treasure of all—brings many thoughts to your mind, the most important of which should be: "How shall I feed him?" Who, with the interests of baby at heart, can answer other wise than: "At the breast," since baby's chance of a healthy life is officially stated to be 15 times greater when the artificially-fed baby, and Breast-feeding is Nature's own insurance against the many diseases which threaten baby—particularly in hot climates. Under whatever laws of Hygiene talk of or of foods are prepared, they cannot possibly compare with Breast Milk which goes straight from the breast to baby.

MOTHER! Take LACTAGOL, a scientific preparation which assists Nature in providing for baby through mother a plentiful supply of nourishing milk at every stage. Breast-feeding seldom grows impossible if LACTAGOL is taken.

After a hectic but merry visit, the time comes for me to depart. Don Marcel, leader of the latest revolution, sees me off.

"A farewell glass of wine" says he, bowing gracefully. "But I must hurry back to get things in order. The caballeros are always late and that spoils our last revolution. I must time them better."

GOVERNOR OF PORTUGUESE INDIA.

BOMBAY GOANS' DEPUTATION

A deputation of the Goan Union waited upon H.E. Signor Mariano Martins, the retiring Governor-General of Portuguese India, at the Taj Mahal Hotel on Friday noon prior to his departure for Portugal. The deputation consisted of: Dr. M. A. Heredia, President, Goan Union, Dr. Catso da Costa, Dr. U. M. Mascarenhas, Mr. Jose das Dores Silva, Dr. V. X. Fialho, Mr. P. V. d'Souza, Mr. J. F. Gomes, Mr. N. N. DeSa, and Dr. W. F. Pais.

Dr. Heredia on behalf of the Goan Union expressed thanks of the Union to Signor Martins for the valuable services rendered by him as Governor-General of Portuguese India during the short period of one year. He emphasised the fact that Signor Martins was a strict disciplinarian and improved the financial condition of the country from a chaotic condition. He regretted very much that the political condition of Portugal should have put an end to his administration at such a critical juncture when the moral, material and economic conditions of Portuguese India had so much remarkably improved. Dr. Heredia finally expressed a hope that although Signor Martins was away from Portuguese India he would continue to take interest in that country for whose prosperity he had done so much during the last one year.

SIGNOR MARTINS' REPLY.

Signor Martins in reply thanked the Goan Union for appreciating his services and said he was glad that whatever he had done for Portuguese India had been much appreciated. When he landed in India it was the Goan Union who welcomed him and it was the same Union which was bidding him a farewell. He was profoundly grateful for the manifestation of sympathy and appreciation on the part of the people both in British and Portuguese India. He had endeavoured during the short period of his office as Governor-General of Portuguese India to evolve out of chaos that country to prosperity by insisting rigid retrenchment and preventing useless expenditure without imposing additional taxes. If he had stayed for a few years more he was hopeful to wipe off the debts and to spend the major portion of the revenue for the nation's building departments. He left India with the deepest regret.

The members of the Deputation then shook hands with Signor Martins and left with three cheers for Portuguese India.

THE PORTUGUESE REVOLUTION

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

It is a common belief that the last military revolution of 31st May, in Portugal, originated in the dispute over the tobacco monopoly; but it is, on the very face of it, too frivolous a cause of the overthrow of the Ministry. This was apparent from the very first and our suspicions have now been confirmed by the Portuguese newspaper comments that have reached us. From an article, for instance, from the newspaper "A Epoca" it appears that not many days back the late War-Minister, Col. Mascarenhas, made a proposal of increased pay in the army to the last Ministry. This demand incurred an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 28,98,550 and its provision in the budget, and the Ministry thinking that the extra expenditure would be too heavy a burden for the already heavily-taxed citizens turned down the Colonel's proposal. Col. Mascarenhas, in effect, sent in his resignation. But the Ministry seemed to have had an inkling of the impending disaster in the form of an armed revolution and had had the resignation withdrawn and had had the amount of the proposed increased pay by 60 per cent, and asked for the Parliament's sanction. This, however, could not satisfy the military who from that moment busied themselves with plans of the contemplated action.

ATTITUDE OF THE MILITARY.

The question now arose as to what attitude the Military should adopt towards the national political conflicts that occasionally arose and whether they should take any part in the formation of political policy. There were two parties one of which held that the problems of politics and policy were not part of their business which, they maintained, consisted of national defence against external aggression and execution of the orders of the Ministry. The other party, however, argued that only an army of hirelings could confine itself merely to those things and that it amounted to an admission that they were not part of the nation. It was the latter party which took advantage of the tobacco monopoly dispute that offered itself to them as a convenient pretext and successfully staged the piece of revolution on the 31st May. The very next day the Commander of the Army was invited to form the new Ministry and the collapse of the old one was completed.

It is interesting to note that not only since the establishment of the Republic, rule (during that rule there have been over forty Ministries) but even since the introduction of the constitutional rule under the old monarchy, the Ministries that came into existence from time to time were as unstable as they are now. The King had to dissolve Parliament after Parliament and appoint a dictator to carry on the administration; and the new Ministry lasted for a few months or years to collapse in the end. So far back as in 1886, Ramalho Ortigao wrote:—

"Since 1851 there came into existence a number of Ministries formed by different political parties; but none of them introduced any new principle in its policy or line of action. They all continued to make new appointments or reduce them, raise, loans and so forth. The only novelty about them was that every party as soon as it came into power removed old members of Parliament, governors and government contractors to replace them by the members of their own party."

These words are as true of the present political situation in Portugal as they were in the time of Sr. Ortigao.

The very fact, indeed, that these sudden political changes and military revolutions are not the outcome of political idealism makes one to accept them cynically. At the root of them all lies the sordid motive of grabbing of money and power and it certainly does not matter which particular party or group succeeds in its ambition.

EFFECT ON PORTUGUESE-INDIA.

In Portuguese-India the news of the new revolution has caused no surprise to them. A revolution of this kind is a matter of course and an extremely harmless thing. Of course, it means new parliamentary and Municipal elections and the excitement and cost of them. The only deplorable part of its consequences to them happens to be the loss of services of the present popular Governor General, Sr. Mariano Martins whose short regime has been marked by excellent statesmanship and success of the popular cause.

"PHOSFERINE is a Partner that never lets me down"

A. E. BEAMISH, the Famous Davis Cup International and Principal of the Beamish Correspondence School of Lawn Tennis writes:—

"If there is a harder worked man at the present time than myself, I would like to meet him. During the day I am coaching at lawn tennis at Hurlingham, and in the evening I am hard at work in my capacity of Principal Adviser to the Beamish Correspondence School of Lawn Tennis. Tennis instruction entails a greater mental than physical strain, and in this connection I find that Phosferine is an invaluable ally—a 'partner' that never lets me down and whose excellent 'service' I can always rely upon. Good health is essential for all work and play, and in my case I rely upon Phosferine—a splendid tonic which I strongly recommend to everyone."

From the very first day you take PHOSFERINE you will gain new confidence, new life, new endurance. It makes you eat better and sleep better, and you will look as fit as you feel. Phosferine is given with equally good results to the children.

PREPARING FOR "DRY" BOMBAY.BUREAUCRATIC WAY OF DOING IT

The Chief Secretary to Government has written to the President, on his proposal to concede to the Corporation the right to determine the number and locality of liquor shops in the city, that Government "regret their inability to reconsider the decision communicated to you in their letter of March 23, 1926, which was arrived at after very careful consideration."

HIGHLY COLOURED APPEALS.

The Commissioner of Excise writes to the President in connection with his complaint about the location of country liquor and toddy shops at Byculla:—

The shops in question had to be moved on account of their old locations coming within the scope of the activities of the Improvement Trust and the extent of the move in the case of the liquor shop was 93 yards, of the toddy shop about three times that distance. The Advisory Committee was not consulted because the transfer was over but a very short distance and not from one neighbourhood to another. The transfer moreover was effected over two months ago whereas the new Advisory Committees only came into action from the 1st of May, and I do not think they should feel themselves aggrieved at not being consulted. The appeals received by the Commissioner also appeared rather highly coloured. The pastor of the Scotch Kirk was afraid of the transfer affecting his Sunday school attendance while the priest of the Catholic Church protested against the new location although it was actually further away from his Church than the old one. In the circumstances I do not see any reason to reopen the question.

The Congress Karmi Sangha has deputed two of its members to Kustia to enquire into the alleged bathing fair outrage.—Free Press.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, it is understood, has received intimation from England that her daughter, Miss Nilman Naidu, who is studying at Oxford, is to undergo some operation. The news is giving her much anxiety.—F. P.

Why suffer from INDIGESTION?

By promoting salivary secretion Mustard aids digestion. In India it has not, so far, been sufficiently used, but now its value is being recognized, and before long it will be the natural accompaniment of every meal.

Colman's Mustard, which is sold ready ground in tins and bottles in all bazaars, is highly refined and unadulterated by hand, and the cost is trifling.
